CONGO ISSUE

Misleading Soviet Statements Hit By State Department

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Friday assailed as "intemperate, misleading and irresponsible" Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's newest demand that the West stop its alleged aggression against the Congo.

"This is yet another example of the current Soviet attempt to inflame the international atmosphere," the State Department said.

The department fired back in blunt language at accusations Khrushchev made in a message Friday to the Congo government. In it, Khrushchev said the Soviet Union is ready to act "if these states which are carrying on direct aggression against the Congo do not stop their criminal measures."

INCENSED

Top State Department officials clearly were incensed by Khrushchev's comments. They described his charges as the worst kind of back-alley diplomacy.

Countering Khrushchev's blast, the department said that far from committing aggression the United States is moving swiftly with the United Nations to meet the Congo's appeal for help to end the bloodshed.

It accused the Kremlin of "delaying tactics" aimed at disrupting the United Nations' move while posing as the only friend of the riot-plagued, 15-day-old nation.

"We are gratified that the United Nations has moved despite Soviet delaying tactics to take constructive and effective action directed toward the request of the Republic of the Congo for assistance," the State Department said.

"Like the independent African states, the United States is supporting fully, the United Nations efforts to help the people of the Congo." Press officer Lincoln White read the department's statement replying to what he called a "rocket-rattling message" Khrushchev sent to the Congo.

"The U. S. government deplors the intemperate, misleading and irresponsible statements contained in Mr. Khrushchev's message," White said.

Meanwhile, a department spokesman vigorously rejected the new Soviet complaint that the American plane shot down July 7 violated Soviet air space.

"We flatly reject the Soviet claim," said White at a news conference. White made clear the department would fire back an official reply later to a new Soviet note sent Friday which reiterated Moscow's version of the plane incident.

Parish Voters Set To Ballot Next Saturday

Ouachita Parish voters will go to the polls one week from today to elect city and ward officials, including school board seats. Also to be elected are a representative to the state board of education and a public service commissioner.

Absentee voting started Wednesday and will continue through 5 p.m. next Wednesday.

Ward five residents — including West Monroe — will elect a city judge, a city marshal, a parish school board member, in addition to the district officers.

CITY JUDGE
West Monroe city attorney John F. McCormick and West Monroe attorney Howell Heard are opposing candidates for the city court judgeship in West Monroe. Incumbent Jasper E. Jones is not seeking re-election.

Pete O. Holcomb, incumbent city marshal on the west side of the Ouachita, is opposed by Benton Moore.

School board candidates from ward five are Walter Bennett, incumbent C. B. Griggs, Fred Riser and R. D. Pipes. One is to be elected.

Two of ward 10's seats on the board are to be filled, incumbents James H. Trousdale Jr., and

Jimmie Davis' Niece Succumbs

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Judie Davis, 11-year-old niece of Gov. Jimmie H. Davis, died Friday of a brain and spinal inflammation.

Davis had been en route to her bedside last Saturday when she became ill himself from exhaustion and a gall stone ailment. Judie, one of the governor's favorite nieces, became ill two weeks ago. She was one of two children of Henry Davis, assistant executive director of commerce and industry of Louisiana and brother of the governor. The other child is Jerry, 15.

Funeral services were scheduled for Saturday.

Cuba Reports Russian Help Is Welcomed

Claims It Is Only Assurance Against Attack By America

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cuba, in a stinging slap at the Organization of American States (OAS), claimed Friday that Russia's pledge of military assistance is its only assurance against United States attack.

The Cuban note was a reply to an appeal by Argentine President Arturo Frondizi who asked Cuba Thursday to "express its disapproval of any statement which may be construed as interference by an extra-continental power in American hemispheric affairs."

Frondizi took the step after Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev threatened to send rockets against America and give Cuba other military aid if the United States "dared" to intervene militarily in Cuban affairs.

AGGRESSION
Cuban officials, in a message delivered simultaneously to Latin American envoys in Havana and to the OAS here, said: "We cannot reject Russia's offer because it is contingent on a physical aggression against Cuba."

"Any repudiation of the Soviet offer," Cuba said, "would open the door to a U.S. invasion." Startled and alarmed diplomats here said the Cuban statement deliberately disregarded the non-aggression provisions of the OAS charter and the Rio collective security pact which provide the cornerstone of the inter-American defense system.

Pressure On Rockefeller For 2nd Spot

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Republicans began putting pressure on Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York Friday to take second place on a presidential ticket headed by Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

But they may need more than the example of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson's acceptance of the Democratic vice-presidential nomination to put their drive across.

In some ways the New York governor and the Texas senator are in similar political positions. Both are big men in their parties, with special appeals to some segments of the electorate.

Johnson obviously was chosen by Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the Democratic presidential nominee, to help the party ticket in the South, where some difficult shoals appear to lie ahead.

APPEAL TO GOP
As a middle of the roader, Johnson is credited with having some appeal to Republican voters. But it is doubtful that his presence on the ticket will lure any sizable number of them to support Kennedy.

Rockefeller's high political value to the Republicans lies in his demonstrated ability to attract independent voters. He had to have more than regular Republican support to get elected governor of New York.

Since he has been in that post Rockefeller has been talking at times like a Democrat. He has assailed the Eisenhower administration's defense program in words strikingly similar to those used by Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri and other Democrats.

Nixon is fully aware that the Republicans as a party are outnumbered nationally. He knows repeated attempts by the Louisiana State Democratic committee to oust him.

Mrs. Davis was seated on the committee last Saturday, following the resignation of Mrs. Earl Long.

Booth was highly critical of the Civil Rights plank adopted by the convention Tuesday, but said he sees no point in quitting the National Committee as a protest because "I would just be replaced by someone else."

Mrs. Davis planned to return to Louisiana Sunday. William C. Helms, who served on the platform committee, said he will leave about the same time.

There was a general air among the delegation Friday of cooling tempers and growing reconciliation to the Kennedy-Johnson ticket, even though most of the Louisiana delegates would have liked to see the nominees in reverse order on the slate.

New Frontier Pledged To Demos By Kennedy

Dixie Loyalty Pledge Issue Demo Worry

Showdown Looms With At Least Two Southern Members

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Kennedy-Johnson harmony ticket ran into another Dixie "loyalty pledge" dispute Friday before the alliance could install its new party chairman.

Outgoing party Chairman Paul M. Butler told United Press International all members of the new national committee will be required to sign a pledge of support of the 1960 ticket when they meet Saturday morning.

EXPECT REFUSAL
The showdown, with at least two Southern members expected to refuse to sign the pledge required under party rules, will come while Butler is still presiding.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, the choice of presidential nominee John F. Kennedy for the new chairmanship, deferred a formal announcement of his acceptance until Saturday. But he gave every indication he will take the post—for the balance of this year.

Jackson said he wanted to talk to a lot of people before making his final decision. He cleared the offer with his Washington State delegation at a luncheon shortly after he conferred with Kennedy. The delegates applauded the idea.

Jackson told UPI Kennedy is "strongly urging me to take it." And he added: "He has asked no one else." The two are old friends from their joint service in the House and Senate.

The 43-year-old Lutheran, is the first non-Catholic to be named for the chairmanship in a quarter-century.

"It's a real hard decision," Jackson said in an interview.

Ainsworth Cites Police Role As Juvenile Control

NEW IBERIA, La. (AP) — Robert A. Ainsworth, president pro tempore of the Louisiana Senate, said Friday night he believes police services will emerge as one of the most potent forces in controlling juvenile delinquency.

"I believe that legislative approval for the development of a special program for training juvenile officers recognizes this fact," the New Orleans lawmaker said in a prepared speech.

GRATIFYING
Ainsworth told the sixth annual conference of law enforcement officers working with juveniles there has been a gratifying amount of work done by law enforcement agencies in preventing juvenile crime.

"Law enforcement people," he said, "have taken the lead in the development of recreational programs, athletic programs and other youth activities."

"This is wholesome because it involves proper utilization of leisure time," he said, "and also because it generates respect for lawful authority for reasons other than the power behind the badge."

Parents must understand that they cannot surrender their responsibility for their children to any other person or any governmental agency," he said. "Our schools must be aware of their role in character building. Our churches, civic and social agencies must clearly appreciate their function and must act accordingly."

Fumes Down Twenty Firemen

NEW YORK (AP) — A fire at a Manhattan plastic novelties firm caused a fright Friday when it produced what was termed "deadly dangerous" fumes.

Twenty firemen were overcome. A fire department physician said the men could suffer serious consequences later.

The fumes, it was said, were of nitrous oxide. This sometimes is termed "laughing gas," but the physician said that when inhaled in great quantities it can cause serious illness and even death.

Ralph Bunche In Control Of U.N. Forces

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld Friday night put Undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche in temporary command of the new U. N. Force of African troops in the Congo—600 strong and growing fast.

He did so after dispatches from Leopoldville told how British Maj. Gen. Henry T. Alexander, commanding Ghanaian troops flown there for the force, had acted on his own to forestall a street riot in that Congo capital.

BROKE DOWN
Hammarskjöld, a Swede, cabled Bunche, an American Negro civilian, that he was to be commander of the forces until the arrival of Swedish Maj. Gen. Carl Carlsson von Horn appointed Thursday to the command post.

von Horn is expected in Leopoldville Sunday night. He was to have flown there Friday from Jerusalem, where he has headed the U. N.'s Palestine truce supervision organization, but his flight arrangements broke down.

The U. N. said India, in response to a plea from Hammarskjöld for food for the Congo, had agreed to send 1,000 tons of wheat there.

It disclosed that a staging area for the force had been set up at Kano, Nigeria, where there is a big British-built airfield.

Four U. N. officials left New York Friday night for administrative work at Kano. Three others left with them bound for Leopoldville. The group included three Americans, two Britons, an Irishman and a Japanese. Three American U. N. guards also departed for Leopoldville.

Hammarskjöld said a vanguard of 600 soldiers volunteered by Tunisia and Ghana had been airlifted during the day by U. S. planes into the Congo.

He said the buildup would continue through the weekend with troops from Morocco and Ethiopia. The Congo peace army is to be all-African under top command of a Swede in U. N. service and another Swede heads the U. N. civilian rehabilitation effort for the Congo.

Although cloudy skies are in the offing, he would not predict any rain for the Twin City area.

Pilots To Picket Here Next Week, Say Spokesmen

A four-man picket line will be set up at the airport here sometime next week, a spokesman for the Air Line Pilots Assn. said last night in Atlanta, Ga.

Monroe was one of several cities served by Southern Airways, currently in the throes of a strike by pilots, named in the picket moves.

Striking Southern Airways pilots expedited plans for a possible tieup of commercial air traffic in the Southeast but indicated there was little likelihood of a general walkout this weekend.

TEAMS
Capt. R. T. Brown, an Atlanta spokesman for the Air Line Pilots Assn., said four-man picket teams were sent to Birmingham, Ala., and Jacksonville, Fla. He said another team would go to Charlotte, N.C., Saturday.

Brown said that by the first of next week the ALPA expected to have Southern pilots manning picket lines at air terminals in 10 Dixie cities.

ALPA strategy calls for the setting up of picket lines in the cities at least a day ahead of a general walkout of pilots of other airlines in sympathy with the Southern strikers, Brown said.

Clarence N. Sayen, president of the ALPA, said in Chicago Thursday that pilots of 13 airlines were on call to observe picket lines of Southern strikers, but that no date for a sympathy walkout had been set.

The 145 Southern pilots struck June 5 in a dispute which grew

Boy Files Suit In Killing Of Pet Dog

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — A 12-year-old boy filed suit Friday seeking $25,500 damages for the "vicious and sadistic" destruction of his pet dog by two dog-catchers in a move allegedly vengeance-inspired.

The suit was filed for Mark Gottlieb, of nearby White Oak Borough, against Mr. and Mrs. David A. Hankins, appointed by the borough last January as dog catchers.

Beams Salvo Directly At GOP, Nixon

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
LOS ANGELES COLISEUM (AP) — John F. Kennedy solemnly and gratefully accepted the Democratic presidential nomination Friday night with a pledge to meet the challenges of a New Frontier and to lead "our nation back to greatness."

Kennedy set off the first barrage of his new campaign and beamed a salvo directly at Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

His prospective Republican opponent, he said, is as old as McKinley. His speeches are generalities from Poor Richard's Almanac.

THOUSANDS CHEER
Tens of thousands of the Democratic faithful cheered.

And they gave Kennedy a heavy hand when he raised right at the outset the issue of his Roman Catholic faith.

In dealing with the question of his religion, Kennedy said "I am fully aware of the fact that the Democratic party, by nominating someone of my faith, has taken on what many regard as a new and hazardous risk—new, at least, since 1928."

"But I look at it this way: The Democratic party has once again placed its confidence in the American people, and in their ability to render a free-fair judgment," he continued.

"And you have, at the same time, placed your confidence in me, and in my ability to render a free-fair judgment—to uphold the Constitution and any oath of office—and to reject any kind of religious pressure or obligation that might directly or indirectly interfere with my conduct of the presidency in the national interest."

"The New Frontier" was the way Kennedy titled his 21-minute acceptance speech.

It is, he said, "a frontier of unknown opportunities and perils at a turning point in history."

The man on whom the Democrats have bestowed the highest honor they can offer, beckoned to Americans of all political convictions to step to his side to become pioneers on this new frontier even though it "holds out the promise of more sacrifice instead of more security."

He appealed to everyone within reach of his voice—uncounted millions watching and listened by television and radio sets—to give him their help and votes.

Johnson Pleads National Unity; Views 'New Era'
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson appealed Friday night in accepting the Democratic vice-presidential nomination for national unity, for an end to divisions based on regions, religions and races.

He said the Democrats in their 1960 convention have "forged new strength for the Democratic party and for the nation."

"At the threshold of a new era," the 51-year-old Texan said, "this convention has closed the door on the things which have divided Americans in the past."

"We have stepped across—boldly—into what I believe will be a new day of hope and harmony for all Americans—regardless of religion, race, or region."

NEW STAR
Johnson said that in Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, "a new star has been born in the leadership skies of the nation."

He called Kennedy, whom he battled unsuccessfully for top spot

Christy's wife said that he was on the way home from work, and the Clark's parents said that the youngsters were on their way to Mount Vernon Church.

The Dickson child was hit by a car driven by Daniel W. Harper, 50, 1314 Natchitoches Street, West Monroe, who was going north on North 18th Street. The Dickson child apparently ran across the street in front of the oncoming vehicle, police said.

In the Columbia Highway accident, the Hilburn vehicle, going south on the highway was struck in the rear by a truck driven by Lawrence L. Welch, 43, Route 1, Columbia. The Hilburn automobile, according to police, careened to the left of the highway and struck a northbound vehicle driven by Lannie B. Dorich, 50, 905 Pine St., West Monroe.

Authorities said that Hilburn did not seem to be badly injured, and that Welch received minor cuts and bruises. Welch was charged with reckless driving.

Governor Of Ga. Disgusted With Demo Platform

ATLANTA (AP)—Gov. Ernest Vandiver returned to Georgia Friday plainly disgusted with the Democratic platform on civil rights and unwilling to give immediate endorsement to the nominee of the party.

Vandiver was consulted by Sen. John F. Kennedy before the presidential nominee picked Sen. Lyndon Johnson as his running mate. The Georgia governor said addition of Johnson strengthened the ticket but added:

"I wouldn't say it did enough to insure carrying the South."

He said he has reached no decision on whether he will support the national ticket and will not until he has talked to many Georgians.

Asked about the civil rights plank which he earlier had termed obnoxious, Vandiver called attention to the fact that the Rev. Martin Luther King, Negro leader, was returning to Atlanta on the same plane.

"The Democratic party is going all the way—with JFK and LBJ—and I am proud to be on the bandwagon."

But Johnson's basic theme was national unity.

Johnson's Democratic leader of the Senate during the Republican administration of President Eisenhower, said the Democrats had made divided government work by great effort and patience and "a sense of overriding public responsibility."

"But today—as our nation moves into the times we see ahead—you know, I know, all Americans know that divided government must end and it will end in January," he said, adding:

"We must honor the very keystone of our government's purpose—the first words of our Constitution: 'We, the people, in order to form a more perfect union.'"

"We must perfect our unity."

"That is the foundation work of the greatness this generation can build—in your lifetime and mine."

"As the distracting divisions between executive and legislative must be ended, so must we end the divisions between our regions—the suspicions between our races—the strifes of class—the pressures and tensions of competitive groups and conflicting interests."

"It is this work to which these times call us today."

"This is the work I want to do—and you want to do—and the work which Americans pray that we will do."

Red Chinese Arrive To Talk With Cuba Head

HAVANA (AP)—A Communist Chinese mission arrived Friday at Prime Minister Fidel Castro's invitation for negotiations that may result in increased trade and possibly establishment of diplomatic relations.

Lu Hsu-chang, deputy minister of foreign commerce, headed the 14-man group from Peking. The Chinese were met at the airport by Maj. Ernesto Guevara, extreme leftist president of the National Bank of Cuba; Maj. Faure Chaumon, Cuba's ambassador-designate to the Soviet Union and other officials.

Guevara, Cuba's leading exponent of closer ties with the Communist bloc, probably will handle the trade talks with the visiting Chinese.

Any announcement from the talks is expected to be saved until July 26, when the Castro regime plans a massive celebration in the Sierra Maestra of the anniversary of his revolutionary movement.

History Made

Choice Of Demos Likens 8 Years To 'Fitful Sleep'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—John F. Kennedy described the years of the Eisenhower administration Friday night as "eight years of drugged and fitful sleep."

Yet the Democratic presidential nominee's acceptance speech was devoid of harsh blasts on the personal level at President Eisenhower, the World War II general whose hold on the affections of the American people was such that they twice elected him to the presidency.

There was in fact a sort of left-handed compliment to Eisenhower at one point—in a suggestion that Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the prospective Republican presidential nominee, doesn't measure up to Eisenhower's footsteps.

As to Nixon, Kennedy was unrestrained. He spoke of him as "a man who has spoken or voted on every side of every known issue" and as one who "before he deals, someone had better cut the cards."

In blasting the GOP, Kennedy mentioned by name Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

All this seemed to add up to this: At least at this point, Kennedy doesn't subscribe to the view that attacks on Eisenhower are an effective way to win votes for the Democrats. But Nixon and members of the Eisenhower official family are in a different class.

Pressure On Rockefeller For 2nd Spot

For that reason, Nixon obviously would be happy to have Rockefeller as his running mate, despite the differences that have cropped up between them over some vital domestic policies.

But the prospect of playing second fiddle to Nixon is not alluring to Rockefeller. He has a big job, possibly second only to the presidency itself. He has two more years to build his record before running for re-election.

If Nixon loses and Rockefeller can get himself re-elected governor two years from now, he will have what amounts to a lead pipe cinch to get the 1964 Republican presidential nomination. If Nixon wins and Rockefeller remains governor, he would be the most available candidate in 1968.

If Rockefeller takes second place on the ticket, he may win the vice presidency and be subject to Nixon's whim as to whether that office reverts to a mere ceremonial post. Nixon says it won't, but men can change their minds when they are clothed with presidential power.

In some respects Rockefeller faces the dilemma that confronted Theodore Roosevelt 60 years ago. T. R. wanted the governorship again but was afraid the Republican machine politicians would deny it to him.

So Roosevelt took the vice-presidential nomination. Through the death of William McKinley "that damned cowboy," as Mark Hanna called T. R., became president.

There was speculation Jackson's administrative assistant, John L. Salter, who was a Western Kennedy - for - president lieutenant, would help Jackson as an executive aide in the National Committee.

Butler's principal troubles in his 5½ years as chairman arose from Southern resentment of the "loyalty" issue and his public statements about the Dixie attitude.

MARY KRAMER, 23, of Elizabeth, N.J., inspects a Kennedy button worn by Les Cohen, 19, of Timmins, Ontario, who managed to crash every session of the Democratic national convention in Los Angeles except the one on opening day. His way: join up with demonstrators carrying banners and signs. He's heading for Chicago to try the same technique on the Republicans. (AP Wirephoto)

BEFORE SPEECH

Kennedy Goes Into Seclusion In LA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy went into seclusion in a Beverly Hills hotel Friday to await the hour of accepting the Democratic presidential nomination.

He followed a busy, sometimes boisterous, round of visits with political big names before calling a halt in midafternoon.

He then drove to the Beverly Hilton hotel to work on his acceptance speech in a spacious air-conditioned suite.

He told reporters he would receive no callers for the rest of the afternoon. He looked tired.

On the way to his hotel Kennedy stopped at the Beverly-Wilshire hotel to visit former Sen. Herbert H. Lehman of New York and solicit his support. Lehman told newsmen he told Kennedy that he would work for the ticket if a program could be worked out under which "we can work independently of the machine organization which we have successfully fought."

He said this was a reference to the New York political organization of Carmine DeSapio.

Kennedy told reporters that he would meet with Lehman after taking a short vacation and "try to work out some way so we can carry New York."

Lehman, an avowed liberal, has been battling politically with the DeSapio organization.

Discussing Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, the vice-presidential nominee, Lehman called him "a very fine man."

He said he thought there will be some disappointment in the selection of Johnson but that he personally considered it was "a wise decision" to give the nod to Johnson as Kennedy's running mate.

Lehman had said earlier he feared the Johnson selection

IN PRESIDENTIAL FIGHT

Truman Pledges To Help Demos

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UPI) — Former President Harry S. Truman Friday night pledged his "personal services in any way that I may be asked" toward the election of Sen. John F. Kennedy, whose nomination he had vociferously opposed, as president.

In a telegram to Gov. Leroy Collins of Fla., chairman of the Democratic National Convention, Truman said "with the nomination of Sen. John F. Kennedy for president and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson for vice president, the Democratic Party must now close ranks and go to work."

The message was released here simultaneously with reading of the telegram to the convention in Los Angeles.

"The restoration of Democratic leadership and direction to the nation is essential in the face of the world situation," Truman said.

"No differences among us, whatever they may be, can be important enough to impair our unity at a time when the security and the survival of this nation and of the free world are in jeopardy.

"Let us be sure that in the coming campaign we do not say or do anything that would give Communist Russia or Red China reason to doubt the determination of all our people of what ever political party, to resist to the utmost encroachment by them either in the Western Hemisphere or elsewhere in the free world.

"If we are to succeed in our bid for leadership we must wage a vigorous and inspiring campaign to bring all the facts to the American people.

"To that end I pledge my personal services in any way that I may be asked by the party."

Abby Breaks Up Over Mountains

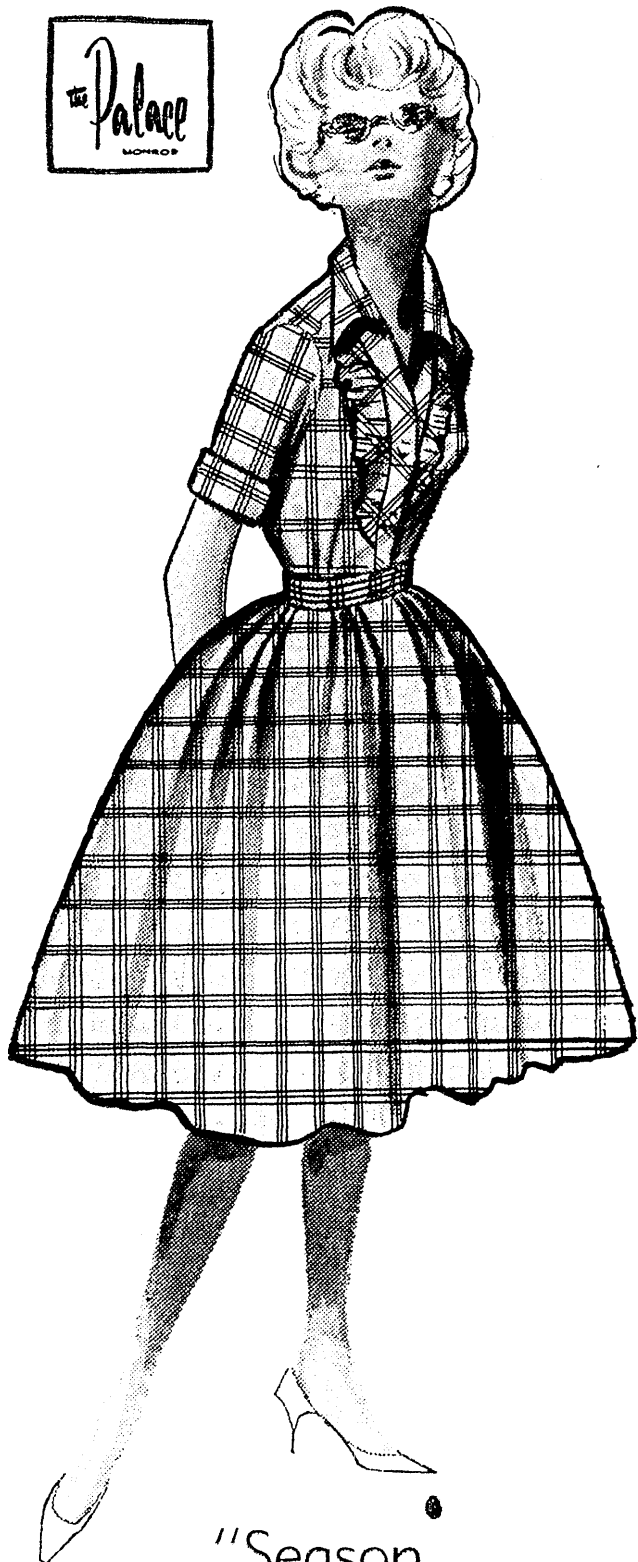

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Abby broke up in the mountains of Central America Friday after roaring inland in southern British Honduras.

There were no reports on the damage to British Honduras from high tides, 80-mile per hour winds and torrential rains. Eight small houses on Guanaja Island off the north coast of Honduras were destroyed but no casualties were reported.

The coastal area of British Honduras where the storm hit is thinly populated. The capital city Belize, 75 miles to the north, caught only gusty breezes from the northern fringe of the hurricane.

Almond said: "That is no longer a hope, it is a reality." He said he would work for the ticket and has received encouraging word from "back home." Virginia went Republican the last two elections.

Kennedy also exchanged greetings with former Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee, and former Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler of Kentucky as he arrived at the Beverly Hilton.

Backseating Johnson

Vice-presidential nominee Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas still has his hands on the senate steering wheel but there are strong strings attached to them and he will guide the senate the way the strings indicate. Pulling the strings will be Democratic Presidential Nominee John F. Kennedy.

Incidentally, before the Democratic convention, it had been announced that Texas had enacted special legislation giving Mr. Johnson the right to run for the presidency and for re-election to the senate at the same time. Whether this would also apply to his running for the vice-presidency, whether special permission might also be sought in connection with the race for the vice-presidency and whether such special legislation could be enacted in view of the fact that Senator Johnson has aligned himself with Senator Kennedy, with the strongest anti-southern "civil rights" program in history and with the most socialistic platform ever adopted by any political party in this country, including that of Norman Thomas' Socialist party, are questions that may need to be answered.

Senator Johnson's acceptance of second place on a ticket headed by Senator Kennedy means that from now until after the presidential election Johnson will be taking orders from Kennedy. He will be taking those orders in the senate when that body convenes August 8.

Johnson has been accustomed to giving orders in the senate, often ruling with a strong hand and winning for himself the reputation of being a master at the art of handling men. He is going to be in the position of taking some now from a man he previously discounted as too immature to hold the office of president.

Kennedy won't ride roughshod over the senate leader while that chamber is in session. He will merely give Johnson his orders ahead of time or mildly make suggestions and then sit back and smile like a cat that has just swallowed a canary while the former master of the senate does his bidding.

With his name on the ticket with Kennedy, Johnson will have a personal stake in doing everything he can to advance the kind of legislative program the Massachusetts senator wants completed before the final weeks of adjournment.

This has not always been so in the past. Johnson has often stopped the senate Democrats short of giving Kennedy what he wanted in legislation.

Anyone with an ounce of political knowledge would know without being told, why Kennedy wanted Johnson as his running mate. Kennedy, with his civil rights plank and his ultra socialistic program, which he deemed necessary to satisfy labor, Negroes and the northern radicals, had just finished kicking the south in the teeth with hobnail boots about a dozen times.

The only man who could possibly salve those wounds was Lyndon Johnson, since, of the four principle contenders for the presidential nomination, Johnson had been the choice of the south. Without Johnson, Kennedy was soon informed, the presidential nominee had just about turned the solid south either into the Republican ranks or into the ranks of States' Righters. To salvage what he could of the south's vote, Kennedy had to nominate Johnson. He had been told that by southerners who still clung to the hope of going along with the Democratic party.

Johnson's nomination was as much "rigged" as the whole convention had been. Of course, there would have been no difficulty in nominating him, with Kennedy's support, by following regular procedure but the convention did not even do that. The chairman called for a voice vote on a motion to nominate him by acclamation and then declared the motion carried, despite a loud roar of disapproval and despite the fact that a two-thirds majority was required on that motion.

Putting Johnson in second place on the ticket is about like putting ketchup on a mess of spoiled meat. A Kennedy program that calls for just about everything the south opposes and just about everything a truly democratic people opposes can hardly be made palatable by the nomination of a man who was less objectionable than Kennedy but who has gone a long way toward socialism and disregard of southern principles.

Can't Afford Raise

Congress recently overrode a veto of President Eisenhower to give an increase in pay to postal and other civil service employees of the federal government but there seems to be serious doubt but there employees will be the principal beneficiaries or that they will benefit to any considerable extent.

While the measure was pending, a woman employed by the federal government in Washington wrote the senate post office and civil service committee to protest the proposed raise. She said in part:

"I can't afford another pay raise. As a career civil service employee, I've never made so much and had so little."

She went on to remark that the trouble with the government pay raise is that everybody knows about it and has increased prices accordingly. She charged that landlords and merchants in the capital city immediately arranged to take it all away from the recipients.

"Our 10 per cent pay raise in 1958 was gulped," she claimed, and noted that her landlord had raised her rent $7 a month at that time. This time he anticipated the action of congress and upped the rent from $77 to $82.50 a month. Continuing, the woman said:

"This spiral must stop some place. I, for one, am willing to forego a pay raise if it means a step toward stabilization. This is my contribution toward attempting to thrust a small dart into the monster that is devouring all civil servants — the out-of-proportion high cost of living."

On being interviewed by a reporter, she said:

"Don't forget to announce again in screaming headlines just how many millions of dollars will be released in this area. This enables all local merchants to figure a fast mark-up with little or no research."

This woman apparently understood better than most people what inflation does. She knows that if everybody gets more pay and everybody charges more it takes more money to buy the things we need. We just have to carry around more money to get what we want.

Of course, an objective of labor union officials and some others is seeking pay raises for their particular groups of workers is that those workers will always stay ahead of the prices increases and will get pay increases when others don't and in those ways will get more than their share while others get less.

It is a pity that members of the Louisiana legislature could not have had some of this woman's foresight when they began by raising the pay of all the state officials and most of the parish officials under state jurisdiction, then gave themselves a healthy increase in expense money and finally, to even things up somewhat, although not fully by any means, gave a general pay increase to lesser state employees.

Convention Is Outmoded

Present System Of Nominating President Represents

Neither Party's Nor People's Choice

There can be no question but that the convention is an outmoded device for selecting a candidate for president. It was outmoded in 1912 when Theodore Roosevelt battled for the direct primaries. It, today, represents neither a party's choice nor the people's choice. It is a grand fiesta to excite over what has already been arranged.

Here is an enormous gathering of men and women, most of whom have no say in the proceedings and do not even vote as they choose. The galleries are filled with onlookers, visitors, the curious, the glib, they come to watch the donkeys or the elephants. Most of them have no idea as to what is going on. The heavy contributors and the currently and formerly distinguished sit in special reservations, usually box seats. Everybody has to have a ticket or a badge.

The noise is unbelievable and constant. The lights glare. There is an orchestra which blares and an organ which does not play a Gregorian chant. Those who march in honor of a candidate, not only include the delegates who favor him but also hired marchers who swell his ranks, prolong the pandemonium and excitement, and continue the impression of unrestrained enthusiasm.

Speakers rise to speak. Sometimes they are heard in the convention hall. They are better heard on radio and television. The speeches are never extemporaneous because no politician can risk a slip of the tongue. Besides, he wants his speech printed in the newspapers and commented upon.

So he sends it out in advance.

Quietly, without excitement, the great men sit in a hotel suite. They meet in committees. They make deals. Whenever a candidate says that he has made no deals, he is literally not telling the truth. The deals are made and they are lived up to. Sometimes a candidate has to avoid the direct conversation; but an intermediary can always be found.

The candidate promotes himself. He is drafted by nobody. He raises his own money. A rich candidate or one that has rich friends or has access to labor union money has an easier time than one who has to watch his nickles and dimes.

As a businesslike institution, the convention is nothing at all. It ought to be abolished. However, no substitute for the convention has been devised because neither of our principal political parties is a membership organization. They are mechanisms for gathering votes for chosen candidates. The boss system continues in various form. A politician is more concerned about the opinion of Lawrence of Pennsylvania or DeSapio of New York or Pat Brown of California than he is about hundreds of delegates. In the Democratic convention, David Dubinsky and Alex Rose matter; Walter Reuther matters. These are the politicians of labor. They have access to enormous labor treasuries and can make promises of support to candidates. Nothing would please them better than to have John Kennedy as the Democratic candidate and Nelson Rockefeller as the Republican candidate. Then they would win no matter who lost.

Other groups are at work at conventions, offering huge blocks of votes. Most of them cannot deliver on the barrel-head but a nervous candidate does not want to risk losing any group that can be satisfied with a bone or a scrap.

Meanwhile there is no deliberation. What is called a platform is intended to be a statement of principles. A large committee meets to draw up this document. It holds hearings over a prolonged period before the convention and listens to all sorts of ideas, proposals, concepts. But usually three or four knowledgeable men do the writing and their ideas prevail.

The platform is usually too long for general reading. It covers too wide and too detailed a statement. It rarely has an elevating thought or an emotional paragraph. After all the fuss that is made over it, it is generally forgotten and it is always ignored by those who are elected under its provisions.

This then is the convention. I once had a boy made the page to a candidate. He saw all the machinery at work, closely and intimately. When it was over, I asked him how he liked it. His reply was: "That is not what they taught me at college."

SYLVIA PORTER

Election Years

Stock Market Usually Affected Briefly

By New President

Fact number one: There is no election year pattern in the stock market. In past presidential election years, the U. S. stock market has moved up, down, sideways. It has hit its high or low early, in the middle and late in the year.

Fact number two: Fundamental economic conditions, forces and expectations decide the stock market's direction in an election year as they do in other years. Much more important than F. D. Roosevelt's election in 1940, for instance, was the fact that Hitler was over-running Europe and we were starting major war preparations. Much more important than Harry Truman's election in 1948 was the fact that 1948 marked our first significant post-war business adjustment.

Fact number three: The election of a president, Democratic or Republican, may have a sharp, immediate impact on the stock market but it is usually brief.

Fact number four: At times, the immediate effect of the election on the stock market carries through, at times it doesn't. There is no pattern here either.

There is overwhelming evidence to back up what you've just read but the folklore about the great impact of presidential elections on the stock market continues to flourish. Hardly a day passes now that I don't hear or read some comment to the effect that the current uneasiness in the economy and the decline in the stock market in 1960 may be traced in part at least to the uncertainties about the election.

And apparently the New York Stock Exchange itself feels the legend is so deep-seated that in its official publication, "The Exchange," released today, it submits a short study which leads it to the flat, "valid" conclusion that "there is no overall election year pattern."

To make the point even stronger to you, here are the figures showing what has happened to stock prices in each election year back to 1932. The yardstick is the familiar Dow Jones industrial stock average.

1932: F. D. Roosevelt, Dem. The industrial stock average entered the year at 77.90, made its high in March, its low in July. It was lower the day after the election than the day before and closed at 59.93, OFF for the year.

1936: Roosevelt, Dem. The average began at 144.13, made its low in January, its high in November, closed higher the day after the election than before, ended at 179.90, UP for the year.

1940: Roosevelt, Dem. The average began at 150.24, made its high in January, its low in June, was lower the day after the election than the day before, closed at 131.13, OFF for the year.

1944: Roosevelt, Dem. The index started at 135.89, hit a low in January, a high in December, hardly changed over the election day period, closed at 152.32, UP for the year.

1948: H. Truman, Dem. The index started at 131.16, reached a low in March, a high in June, closed lower the day after the election than the day before, ended at 177.30, OFF for the year.

1952: D. Eisenhower, Rep. The average began at 269.23, reached a low in May, a high at the end of the year. Over the election day period, it rose slightly, closed at 291.90, UP for the year.

1956: Eisenhower, Rep. The average began at 488.40, reached a low in January, a high in April, declined the day after the election, closed at 499.47, UP for the year.

1960: The average entered this year at 619.36, reached its high to date in January, is now sharply lower as the election campaign gets into high gear for reasons which have nothing to do with politics.

Study the above record and you'll realize fully that "the pattern" is the lack of pattern. The stock market reacts to basic economic developments and expectations — whether it's in or out of an election year.

Youth's Faults

Closelooker Thinks Juvenile Delinquency May End Bragging

EN ROUTE TO LOS ANGELES — C. L. Closelooker, the research man, was flying into the Convention City with some last-moment suggestions for the Democratic keynoter, Senator Frank Church, the youngest member of the upper chamber. What sort of suggestions?

"The keynoter ought to lay off that accent on youth," said Closelooker. "American Youth isn't much to boast about any longer. On the very day that Senator Kennedy was telling a nationwide audience about the advantages of being young, a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee was making some contrary disclosures.

"Juvenile delinquency," continued Closelooker, "jumped 175 per cent in the 1948-58 decade, although the juvenile population rose only 35 per cent. About 700,000 criminal cases by 600,000 children have caused the Democratic-dominated Senate to pass a bill for Federally-supported 'training programs' of these uncontrollable boys and girls. It's not time for Democrats to come out in favor of youth."

Well — maybe Mr. Closelooker had a point. But, after all, those juvenile delinquents are merely children. They'll grow up.

"A horrible thought," shuddered Closelooker. "Maybe they'll be like those drunken hoodlums who broke up the Newport Jazz Festival. These were college-age rioters and scofflaws who vandalized the Rhode Island resort town to an extent that authorities had to call out the Marines and the National Guard. Not long ago some representatives of the same generation tried to break up a Congressional committee investigation in San Francisco and had to be dispersed by police action. You can't open your morning paper without seeing where American Youth is disgracing itself and the country in every way from debauchery to disloyalty."

Well, it's a sad fact that American Youth is no longer anything to be proud of. But, as Senator Kennedy was saying on the Fourth of July, we are still a young country of 184 years, and into mobs and kill their own countrymen. The new nations of West Africa will end up shedding more blood than the Mau Maus."

Oh, well, the West Africans are uncivilized, and . . . "But the Chinese have one of the oldest civilizations on earth," said Closelooker, taking another close look at the facts. "Yet the young nation of Red China has already been in a war against the United Nations and today is slashing at its smaller neighbors on several fronts. If the keynote address was a truth-telling document, it would chastise both young Americans and young nations of the world."

No doubt, did Mr. Closelooker have any more ideas for Senator Church?

"There is something else the Democratic Convention ought to do, but probably won't," said Closelooker. "It ought to praise the man who's done the most recently for the Democratic party — Nelson Rockefeller. The New York Governor, a sort of U-2 Republican, has surpassed all the Democrats in making a Democratic victory almost certain in November."

Still, it's doubtful if Senator Church will voice his party's disapproval of Youth or its appropriation of a Republican Governor. Did Mr. Closelooker have any better ideas?

"Yes," said Closelooker. "Keynoter Church had better not get on the subject of President Eisenhower's vacation. After all, the leading Democratic candidate, John Kennedy, must have set a new record for Senate absenteeism. Moreover, Church should be careful not to say anything sarcastic about Ike's unhappy trips to Europe and Asia to promote 'peace' and 'freedom.' A good many American fighting men made these same journeys under the same slogans when we had Democratic Administrations. We haven't got much of a Republican peace, but it's better than those Democratic wars."

With the nation and the world in such bad shape, maybe there shouldn't be any keynote speech at all. Could Mr. Closelooker suggest a substitute for this traditional political oration?

"A silent prayer," said Closelooker, after another close look at national and international affairs, "would be the very best commentary on the Presidential election of 1960."

DR. PETER J. STEINCROHN

Common Colds

Antihistamines Don't Cut Them Short; Aspirin Does As Well

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Can you lay down some rules or suggestions about the common cold?

My husband and our three small children are always coming down with colds. I'm the only one who seems to be immune to the pesky things. My children are aged five, seven and twelve. Mrs. V., Chicago.

ANSWER: I could begin and end the discussion right here by saying that we don't know exactly what causes all colds, and haven't any specific treatment that will work in most cases. It's an old joke that we can put up a good fight against pneumonia, but are powerless to influence the course of a cold.

Nevertheless, there are some things we do know. Most colds are caused by some type of virus. No matter what we do, most of these infections are self-limited. There is no sure way to prevent them; no certain way to treat them.

However, here are some helpful hints on how to manage the common cold — and a few points of general information:

1. Colds breed in wet, cold and stormy weather. Don't laugh at people who are afraid to sit in a draft. I know many patients who are sure to come down with a cold when so exposed.

2. Colds in themselves aren't dangerous, but the complications may be: ear infections, sinusitis, bronchitis, pneumonia. Antibiotics are useless in the treatment of the cold itself, but are of value in preventing or treating complications. (Don't ask for a "shot" when you come down with an ordinary cold.)

3. Antihistamines don't cut short a cold, but sometimes make the patient feel more comfortable. Aspirin is about as good as anything.

4. Colds are very contagious. They are easily spread in offices, movies or wherever there are many contacts with people.

5. If there is a cold in a member of the family, be sure that the others use their own towels, dishware — and that there is no mixup in the use of toothbrushes.

6. Always consider the possibility of allergy rather than a cold if children are having repeated colds. This holds true for adults, too.

7. Allow no hair-washing, swimming, or living in an air-conditioned room until the cold is over.

8. Cathartics are not necessary unless the patient is constipated.

9. In general, the best treatment is bedrest until the fever is down, diet to suit the appetite of the patient, use of disposable tissues, liquids like water, fruit juices and carbonated drinks.

10. The most important part of the self-treatment of a cold is to recognize the possibility of complications. Therefore, better call in your doctor if the patient's cold seems to "hang on" without reason.

NO CURE FOR GRUNTS

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: This may sound like a small worry to you, but it has become a large one to us. An elderly member of our family is completely deaf. We have finally got him to stop talking so loud that it nearly bursts our ear drums.

But he grunts at the table until it is almost more than we can take. He grunts when he gets dressed and at other times, but this grunting when he eats is about to ruin each evening meal.

Since it is the only time our family is together, is there anything you can suggest? Mrs. X., Indianapolis.

ANSWER: What else can I say but grin and bear it. And suggest you visualize that not too distant day when many of us will be grateful for patient children.

Daily Meditation

Apply thine heart unto instruction, and thine ears to knowledge. — Proverbs 23:12.

Throughout Proverbs, wisdom and knowledge are given a high place and praise. How is knowledge and wisdom to be acquired? Largely through parents, teachers, preachers and books. If we take this viewpoint, then we can better understand the importance of devout parents and grandparents, regular worship, Bible reading and study, prayer and the careful selection of schools and colleges. This is the reason that religion and education have always very properly gone hand-in-hand.

Merciful God, lead us in paths of true knowledge and wisdom that we may better serve Thee and Thy Son. In His name we pray. Amen.

FOR EMPLOYMENT

Tech Placements Show Increase

RUSTON (Special) — Figures prepared by the placement department of Louisiana Tech show an increasing employment demand for graduates of the college.

During the 12 months beginning July of 1959 and continuing through June of 1960, Tech received requests for employees from 782 industrial firms and other agencies, averaging 15 lists for each request and totaling approximately 11,730 jobs filed with the placement office.

201 IN STATE

Dr. Elenora A. Cawthon, director of the department of placement and services, said that most of the listings of job opportunities originated in Louisiana, where the total of requests was 201. Other requests according to location included: California, 66; Texas, 44; New York, 30; Washington, D.C., 29; and Arkansas, 27.

The total distribution among the 37 states filling job requests at Tech also included the following:

Alabama, 3; Arizona, 2; Colorado, 5; Connecticut, 7; Florida, 4; Georgia, 9; Illinois, 19; Indiana, 13; Kansas, 5; Kentucky, 3; Maryland, 5; Massachusetts, 1; Michigan, 5; Minnesota, 1; Mississippi, 2; Missouri, 4; Nevada, 3; New Jersey, 2; New Mexico, 6; North Carolina, 1; Ohio, 11; Oklahoma, 3; Oregon, 1; Pennsylvania, 8; South Dakota, 1; Tennessee, 5; Utah, 1; Virginia, 7; State of Washington, 6; West Virginia, 5; Wisconsin, 8; Wyoming, 1.

One foreign country — Venezuela — filed a job request with the Tech office.

The 228 civil service listings at Tech in the past year were usually for a choice of locations, with all civil service regions and some overseas opportunities included, Mrs. Cawthon said.

The total of 782 requests for the past year is an increase of 154 over last year, or a gain of more than 24 per cent.

"Tech is not registered with any national employment service," Mrs. Cawthon pointed out. "Prospective employers learn about the college through its alumni and other sources. Our graduates, in numerous fields, are in demand because the employers say they are impressed with Tech's high scholastic standards."

"These listings by employers and personnel representatives who request referrals constitute a mine of information about employment prospects throughout the country," Dr. Cawthon said. "With only this information in the hands of every graduate, it is likely that each person available for employment can find his proper vocational cubby hole."

Atmosphere Of Carnival Grooms Solon

LOS ANGELES COLISEUM (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts arrived to accept the presidential nomination of the Democratic party Friday night in a strictly carnival atmosphere.

Kennedy got a big cheer as he came into this big bowl. But the crowd must have been a disappointment to those who planned it.

The Coliseum seats 95,000, and it was less than half filled. With Kennedy was his vice-presidential choice, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, and almost every Democratic bigwig who has been in Los Angeles the past week.

As usual, in anything connected with politics, the show got off to a late start and there was at least a threat that it might not go off at all.

Right up to the opening, and then some, workmen were putting the wooden stage together.

You'll get some idea of the confusion from this: During the first number, a sort of trial run by the Kansas City Blue Blowers, with Steve Allen at the piano, a carpenter was busy building a booth.

It was bad enough when the carpenter used a rhythm considerably different from the one favored by the Blue Blowers; it was worse when another carpenter cut loose on plywood with his electric saw.

This big bowl has 95,000 seats, of which probably 30,000 were empty when the show started.

A few incidental notes on the setup here:

The speaker's podium is 420 feet from home plate.

The Democrats, a drill team that strutted around as the program started, are a versatile crew. During the professional football season, they are the Ramblers. For baseball they're the Dodgers.

And only a couple of days ago they were marching around as the Kennedyettes. One was wondered whether if Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York were to win the Republican nomination would they bipartisanly become the Rockefellerettes?

Allen, master of ceremonies for the entertainment, opened his part of the show by using field glasses. These gave him a perfect, close-up view of the empty seats.

Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee, an early arrival, said: "I think it was a mistake to have it—the acceptance—here. I don't know whose idea it was."

He asked wistfully: "Can they fill this place for baseball?"

A native had the cruellest quip: "Even the Phillies draw better than this."

Pratt explained that the exercise Sunday will encompass all the various means of CAP search and rescue work.

School Board Race Highlight In Catahoula

JONESVILLE (Special) — The interest of the July 23 primary election in Catahoula parish, and which is being held throughout Louisiana, will be centered on the Ward Two school board race.

Mrs. Annie R. Gambrell is opposing Bruce Edmonds in the bid for the office of school board member from Ward Two.

In as much as there are only two in the race, the one who garners the most votes next week will be nominated as the democratic nominee and will be as good as elected.

The only local race in the parish is that of the school board in Ward Two. In Ward Three, C. A. McGuffee did not have any opposition for the democratic election. Judge Jesse C. McGee and District Attorney D. W. Gibson did not have any opposition for their respective offices.

However, the parish as a whole will vote at each precinct on a member of the Louisiana Public Service Commission and a member of the State Board of Education for the Third Public Service Commission District.

Catahoula Red Cross Effort

JONESVILLE (Special) — The Catahoula Parish Chapter of the American Red Cross announced that the total collection on this year's fund drive was $1800.18.

The goal set for the parish was $2,177.00.

"Even though we were short on our goal we are grateful for the response given to those workers who carried on the drive," Mrs. Lois Adams, executive secretary of the chapter, said.

Bidding Date For Highway Set

JONESVILLE (Special) — Bids will be received by the Louisiana Department of Highways July 27, for the blacktopping of 1.823 miles of the Sicily - Island Pine Hill highway No. 914 it was announced by Rep. W. S. Peck Jr. who had been working for the project.

The bids call for grading, drainage structures, aggregate type or oil cement base course, bituminous surface and other work in connection therewith Rep. Peck said.

Peanut Support Prices Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department Friday announced minimum national average support prices of $201.24 a ton for 1960-crop peanuts. It is possible the support level will be increased later.

Department officials said the announcement today will permit price support operations to be put in effect promptly for the 1960 crop pending determination of the final rates.

Communists In Italy May Be Isolated

ROME (UPI) — Italy's ruling Christian Democrats Party Friday agreed to abandon Premier Fernando Tambroni's right-leaning coalition government and form one with center-left support, possibly isolating the Communists in parliament.

The plan devised by the party directorate was designed to rid the party of a neo-fascist taint and could bring back former Premier Amintore Fanfani, the party's leftwing leader, to head the new government.

A party spokesman said it would be a one party affair supported by votes from the Social Democrats, the Liberals and the Republicans.

There are three ways in which Tambroni could step down, or be ousted should he refuse.

The simplest would be to hand his resignation to President Giovanni Gronchi who would then consult party leaders on choice of a new candidate.

The matter could also be put to a parliamentary vote of confidence on some issue such as the government's handling of the recent riots—which were sparked by Communists who used as an excuse Tambroni's acceptance of support from fascists.

CHARGE IMPERIALISM

Reds Warn West To Quit Congo

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev warned the West Friday to keep hands off the Congo.

Repeating his charge that the faltering new nation is a target of imperialist aggression, Khrushchev declared the Soviet Union will take resolute countermeasures if this continues.

"The demand of the Soviet Union is simple—hands off the Republic of the Congo!" he said in a message to Congo President Joseph Kasavubu and Premier Patrice Lumumba.

"The government of the Congo can be assured that the Soviet government will give the Congo Republic the necessary help which may be required for the victory of your just cause."

As in similar statements concerning Suez and Cuba, this left the Kremlin in a position to claim a victory no matter which way the situation goes.

In 1956 the Soviet Union threatened to send "volunteers" to fight for Egypt unless Britain, France and Israel broke off an invasion of Egypt. That fighting ended after the United States also condemned the attacks.

Last Saturday Khrushchev pledged support for Cuba and received himself a "hands off" warning from the United States, which said action by international communism in the Western Hemisphere could not be tolerated.

An almost daily series of Khrushchev speeches, notes and declarations must be creating an impression among Soviet newspaper readers that Western nations are rushing hell-bent toward an aggressive war.

Sen. Jackson To Decide On Demo Position

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) said Friday he will make a decision by Saturday morning on whether he will accept the position of chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

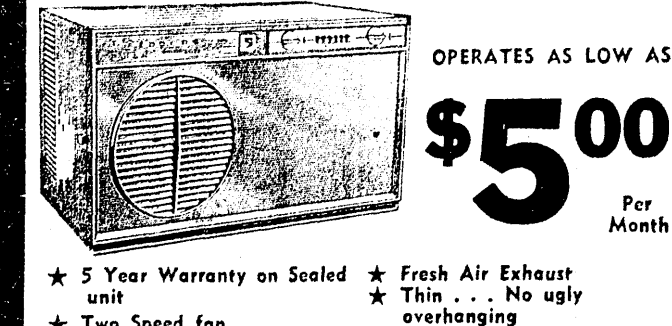

After a conference with Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, Jackson told newsmen the Massachusetts senator had strongly urged him to take the chairmanship.

Jack said it is a difficult decision for him, since he has his position in the Senate to consider. "Under no circumstances would I take it—the chairmanship—beyond the period of the election and the transition to the new administration," Jackson said.

He added that that means a Jan. 21 cut-off date, or a period of just over six months.

IKEDA TO HEAD REGIME

Kishi, Cabinet Quit In Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Premier Nobusuke Kishi and his Cabinet resigned shortly before midnight Friday. Hayato Ikeda, 60, pro-Western trade and industry minister in the outgoing Cabinet, will be named the new premier at an extraordinary Diet session convening Monday.

Ikeda, whose tough economic policies helped speed Japan's economic recovery, qualified for the premiership by succeeding Kishi as head of the Liberal-Democratic party Thursday. Ikeda's election by the Diet is assured, since the Liberal-Democrats have a majority.

The Kishi Cabinet met for its final session Friday night to assemble the resignation notices and take them to Kishi's hospital bedside for his seal and signature. Kishi was knifed by an ultra-nationalist Thursday and suffered flesh wounds in the left thigh which doctors say will take at least two weeks to heal.

The resignation, ending Kishi's 3½ years in office, was an anticlimactic finale to a political crisis sparked by ratification of the new U. S.-Japan security treaty last May 20.

Boycott of Parliament by the opposition Socialists, massive left-wing demonstrations, Communist-led mob violence that forced cancellation of President Eisenhower's June visit to Japan, a stinging anti-Kishi campaign by the press, were the factors that brought about his downfall.

PRESUMED

The semi-official newspaper reported that three U.S. warships "presumably" from the Guantanamo U.S. naval base engaged Thursday in "artillery practice" less than two and one half miles off Sigua Beach, halfway between the base and Santiago.

The U.S. Navy announced that it "emphatically" denied the charge.

Foreign Minister Raul Roa announced Thursday night the arrival Friday of a top-level 14-man Communist Chinese trade mission. This was taken to mean that the establishment of formal trade relations and possibly even diplomatic relations with Peiping was imminent.

Medical reports that Premier Fidel Castro would be "completely" recovered very soon made it virtually certain that he would take part in the important talks with Red Chinese Deputy Minister of Foreign Commerce Lu Hsi-chang.

Lu's arrival was kept secret until Thursday.

The Red Chinese deputy minister was expected to negotiate an agreement with Castro, along the lines of one signed by the premier Anastas Mikoyan last February.

Such a trade agreement was regarded as preparatory to the possible establishment of diplomatic relations with Red China. Cuba now maintains relations with Nationalist China.

She would be the first nation in the Western Hemisphere to recognize the Peiping regime.

Another indication of Cuba's drift towards the Communist camp was its rejection Friday of Argentina's request that it disavow Soviet aid. Shortly after the Argentine note was delivered to the Cuban government Thursday, acting foreign minister Carlos Olivares told Latin American ambassadors in Havana that Cuba viewed the Russian offer of rocket support as "spontaneous" and stemming from U.S. "aggressions."

Olivares, who conferred with all Western Hemisphere ambassadors Philip Bonsal, also made it clear that Cuba regarded as "unfriendly" Peru's request for an emergency meeting of hemisphere foreign ministers.

Revolution's report of the alleged American shelling within Cuba's territorial waters was interpreted as part of Castro's campaign to oust from the Guantanamo base U.S. naval forces. It was reported that foreign minister Roa might charge the United States with the alleged violation before the United Nations.

Brigitte Bardot Does Not Want Secrets Spilled

PARIS (AP) — Brigitte Bardot doesn't want her former secretary spilling secrets about her private life. She has asked a Paris court to impound a manuscript written by the secretary until she gives her approval.

The case will be heard Saturday.

Alain Carre, the former secretary, wrote the manuscript on Miss Bardot's life. Brigitte got a few peeks at what it said and decided that some parts were unkind at best or untrue at worst.

Brigitte's arrival was kept secret until Thursday.

Machinery For Louisiana GOP There If Needed

BATON ROUGE (AP) — There doesn't seem to be enough Louisiana Republicans around to man the polls for the July 23 primary, but the machinery is there if voters need it.

Nealon Stracener, legal counsel for the Louisiana Republican Party, said Friday voters may take the initiative themselves on election day.

"We may have a few people who want to vote," he said, "but they want to, they can swear themselves in as commissioners."

Stracener said such individuals must stay at the polls all day, count the votes and make the official reports to state authorities on election results.

The only GOP contested race is for United States Senate. William Dan and George W. Reese, both of New Orleans, are competing for the Republican nomination with the winner to face the Democrats' Sen. Allen Ellender in the November general election.

Stracener said the voter-commissioner method has been used by Republicans before. GOP counts its membership in the state at 8,588 registered voters.

Secretary of State Wade O. Martin and vote machine custodian Douglas Fowler have set up ballots and all needed facilities to conduct a Republican primary, along with the Democratic primary.

She's suffering from a variety of ills, from low blood pressure to low sugar content... Barbara Warner, the film tycoon's daughter who was just divorced from Claude Terrell, has another suitor keeping her from brooding.

Hot-tempered Julius La Rosa and producer Doug Crawford almost came to blows after the Milwaukee opening of "West Side Story." Nerves were raw because local critics blasted the show, and the 1,900-seat house lured fewer than 300 patrons... That's show biz: One of the bit players in the Judy Holliday movie, "Bells Are Ringing," is an actor named Hal Linden. Two years ago, when "Bells" was on Broadway, he played the male lead opposite Judy... A health spa at 7th Ave. and 57th St. has a window sign inviting passersby to come in for a glass of "stant tiger's milk." Does that mean they have an instant tiger tied up in the back yard?

Jack Durant, first comedian in the history of the Latin Quarter to be signed for an eight-week engagement, is funnier than ever. He'll do a lucrative European trip in the fall... The scholarly liner notes for Patti Page's "Elmer Gantry" album of hymns and spirituals were composed by Gig Henry, a Bob Hope gag writer.

Bettina, first love of the late Ali Khan, has put away her mourning clothes and now features chic gray suits. She wears only one piece of jewelry — a clip with a small gold horse on it, presumably given to her by Ali...

Singer Ruth Brown has been ordered to Sydenham Hospital for a complete checkup and rest... It's a long time until the Academy Award ceremonies, but the first buildup has started. The producers of "Murdur, Inc." believe Peter Falk's vivid portrayal of Abe Reles is sure to get him an Oscar for the best supporting actor. They think it's in a class with Paul Muni's "Scarface."

One of the best-selling discs stars is enjoying a terrible reputation among bookers, night club owners and concert promoters. She starts with a prima donna complex, and augments that by drinking heavily, coming to work late, enlivening her conversation with four-letter words, being rude to waiters and cutting her show to the bone if the audience isn't immediately enthusiastic...

Princess Soraya, the former Queen of Iran, has become such a playgirl. Europeans say she threatens to steal "Baby Pignatari's" laurels as the most conspicuous international night spot patron... Major networks face an alarming cut in personnel soon after the political conventions. With so many filmed TV shows, they just have no use for those big crews.

Funny and probably true quote from the Duke of Edinburgh: "Enjoy the convenience of a car while you can. It won't be long before it will be quicker to go on foot..." Let-em-eat-cake quote from Paul Getty: "I'm not really sure whether I have one billion or two billion dollars. But don't forget, a billion is not worth as much as it used to be." (How could anyone forget that?)

Casting note: The upcoming Broadway musical, "Thirteen Daughters," will have lots of parts for cute girls. And there'll be a beau for each girl, so teenage thespians will enjoy an employment boom.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when time permits. Envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

DON'T CATCH YOUR PETS DISEASES

An editor who implies that pets transmit diseases to children and adults is taking his life in his hands. Pet lovers are extremely sensitive to the slightest criticism of their dogs, cats, or parakeets. They also are vocal and never hesitate to let a columnist know of their displeasure along this line. Pets are lovable, especially when friendly, devoted, and well trained. But our furry friends should be kept in their place. Avoid close contact, particularly when the animal appears ill. Call the veterinarian because we do not know how many diseases are transmitted from animal to man — and vice versa.

Among the infections transmitted from infected animals to humans is cat scratch fever, a viral disease with a name that describes the way it is spread. Psittacosis (parrot fever) comes from sick birds, especially parakeets. Rabies is an old — timer and the most dreaded of all animal diseases.

Encephalitis (sleeping sickness) is transmitted by the tsetse fly in Africa but in this country the causative micro — organisms are carried by birds, horses, and mules and carried to humans via ticks or mosquitoes. The causative virus is found frequently in hamsters, guinea pigs, and occasionally in squirrels.

Canine distemper is believed to be related to respiratory disorders in humans. The similarity between measles in children and distemper in dogs and cats has been mentioned in medical journals. Studies suggest the possibility that dogs can develop mumps as the protective antibodies have been isolated from the blood of man's best friend.

The organisms responsible for diphtheria in children have been found in pets. In one instance, a child with diphtheria and his dog had the same germs. Who gave it to whom is the question. Skin diseases, including ringworm of the scalp, have been traced to pets.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

THE LIVER AND JAUNDICE
W. J. writes: Is jaundice present in all forms of liver disease?
REPLY:
No. Jaundice develops only when bile pigments accumulate in the blood and reach a level high enough to stain the tissues yellow, including the skin. This occurs rapidly in some forms of liver disease and slowly or not at all in other forms.

M. B. writes: A friend had part of his stomach removed years ago. He says it has not stretched back to its original size. I always heard that it did. Please advise.

The stomach does not always return to its previous size. Hence many persons who have had this operation feel better when they eat smaller meals more frequently rather than three squares a day.

A. K. writes: Is an enlarging thyroid part of the aging process in a 54 year old woman?
REPLY:
No. Changes in size are due most frequently to tumor, infection, and toxic or simple goiters.

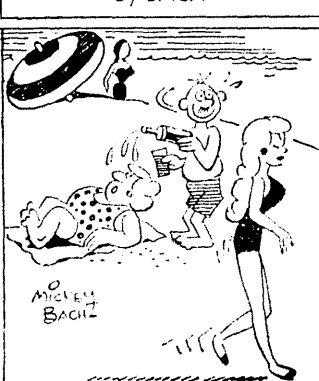

NOSE DISEASE
M. T. writes: Should one marry if he has rhinoscleroma? Is there a cure?
This inflammatory swelling of the nose often responds to streptomycin or radiation. It is not fair to your fiancée to get married when ill. Wait until the disease is brought under control.

BOY CRUSHED

Demo Hopefuls Assure Negroes Of Rights Move

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas declared Friday a Kennedy-Johnson administration could do more in the field of civil rights than has been accomplished in the past century.

And Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the Democratic presidential nominee, told skeptical Negro convention delegates not to worry about the choice of Johnson as his running mate for the November election.

"I bear full responsibility for action," Kennedy said.

He cited the party's strong civil rights platform plank and commended "anyone who is willing to run on this platform and gives evidence of good faith."

"After all," Kennedy added to applause, "I think we should welcome those who will work with us."

Kennedy and Johnson were making their first public appearance together since Kennedy won the presidential nomination and the convention endorsed his selection of Johnson as the vice presidential candidate.

The gathering of Negro delegates was arranged by Rep. William Dawson of Illinois, who made one of the speeches seconding Johnson's nomination last night. Johnson was nominated by acclamation Thursday night.

Johnson promised to do "my dead level best to make progress in the field of civil rights." He said he was aware of injustice and had worked to abolish it "against great odds in both the Senate and at home at times."

"If you give your strength and support," Johnson told the Negroes, "you will find you have made more progress in four years than you made in the last 104."

Mary, Queen of Scots, was beheaded in 1587 as an accomplice in a plan to murder Queen Elizabeth.

Howton Retires

CLEVELAND (AP) — Veteran Billy Howton notified the Cleveland Browns Friday he has decided to retire to devote full time to construction business in Houston, his home.

Howton, 30, was obtained by Cleveland last year after playing seven seasons with Green Bay. Howton was a collegiate star at Rice.

When King Ranch's Chistosa surprised by winning the Bed of Roses Handicap at Aqueduct this spring it marked her second victory in 21 races since 1959.

OUTFIELDER GETS THREE HITS

Vada Pinson Sparks Reds Over Slumping Bucs, 4-1

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Speedy Vada Pinson crashed a triple and two singles and drove in a run as the Cincinnati Reds knocked off the league-leading Pittsburgh Pirates 4-1 Friday night.

The loss, coupled with Milwaukee's 7-5 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies, reduced Pittsburgh's margin to three games over the second-place Braves.

Pinson smashed a single through first in the initial frame, boomed a triple down the left field line in the third and slashed another base hit to center in the fifth.

The first inning safety drove in Eddie Kasko from second with Cincinnati's first tally. Then, after stealing second and moving to third on a wild pitch, Pinson scored what proved to be the winning run on a sacrifice fly.

Pinson also sparked on defense, making a beautiful one-handed stab of Bob Skinner's line drive by John O'Connor in the final frame tagged the Ramblers with their fifth defeat against 12 wins. The Ramblers have lost all five games to Twin City clubs.

Southpaw Fred Southernland hurling a four-hitter to pick up the win while J. W. Mercer took the loss. Mercer pitched creditable ball, allowing seven safeties, but errors by his mates hampered him greatly.

Kelson Bacon kept Ruston in the game with a two-run homer in the fifth inning.

Southernland, who struck out 21 in his last outing against the Ramblers, whiffed 14.

Aulds paced a 17-hit barrage against three Dubach mounds-men, collecting 3-4, driving in six runs and scoring five times.

James Mock, T. L. Fuller and Dennis Fields had three hits apiece while Ronnie Perkins and Tuffey Antley chipped in with a pair each.

Right-hander George Fruge picked up the win, scattering six hits effectively. Bobby Lockwood, the Dubach starter, was tagged with six unearned runs in the second and took the setback.

Aulds got his bases loaded blast in the fifth inning off Billy Ferguson who had relieved Lockwood.

Ashcraft will be solemnized August 13 in the First Baptist Church of Bastrop, was honoree at a tea shower held on Friday, July 8, in the social room of the First Baptist Church in Bastrop. er hue of pink, in tiered rows in an oblong footed silver tray. Flanking the arrangement were three branched candelabra which held burning pink tapers. Mrs. Stowe Harbin of Monroe and Miss Jean Stark of Bastrop presided at the punch bowl.

Miss Henderson Becomes Bride Of C. W. Platt

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Henderson of Monroe and the groom is the son of Mrs. Hazel Platt of Monroe and Webb L. Platt of State Line, Mississippi.

Father Jordan Schell officiated at the ceremony, which was held at six o'clock in the evening and solemnized in the presence of the immediate families.

Serving as maid of honor and the bride's only attendant was Miss Priscilla Platt, sister of the groom.

Roy Henderson Jr., brother of the bride, acted as best man. The couple are making their home at 401 Sheridan.

The newest two-piece bathing suits actually are one-and-one-half piece suits. The shorts part is traditional, but the bra is less than it has been. Strapless and backless, it is held into place by gripping the sides of the wearer at bosom level. There's enough spring in the grip to overcome gravity's pull.

A portable electric oven provides added convenience for informal dining by allowing the hostess to be with her guests. Designed for at-hand cookery, it is capable of holding three TV-dinners or a three-pound roast. The trim oven offers pre-set automatic cooking and keeps food warm until served. Fashion Tips

Many wool skirts and dresses for fall have permanent pleats. The pleats hold their sharpness through rain, dry cleaning and even high humidity. They are installed with a chemical skin to that used in home permanent waving preparations.

Collars unsnap from many new fall coats, converting them to a cardigan neckline.

When you're motorizing, try a new beauty bonnet in any one of several high fashion colors. Made of sheer nylon netting, they keep hair-dos neat.

Why is it there is never enough time to do a job right, but there is always enough time to do it over?

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Big Spender Learning How To Handle Money

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Most small children are "big spenders." They'll buy candy or a toy or whatever they desire at the moment.

Actually, the child who spends is the smallest problem as he spends and spends until he has satisfied that urge. And then he learns that there are other things which may be done with money. To some children, however, an allowance means nothing. They don't care whether they have money or not. They store it away, as they would sea shells, handling it, but not using it. Apparently they are not tempted by "things." MUST LEARN

But every child must learn to use and manage money. This education should be started in early childhood when small sums can be misused without great penalty to anyone. In later years, in fact, the years of marriage, mismanagement of money can be the key to the failure of the marriage.

Some children do not spend because they have everything and there is nothing they really want to buy. But most children who do not spend are afraid. They have been told so often that money can be misused that they are fearful of making mistakes and taking punishment, a scolding or suffering humiliation. They prefer not to spend rather than accept the responsibilities and their consequences.

HOARDING ISN'T VIRTUE

Don't be quick to praise the child for hoarding his money. In early childhood that is not a virtue but an indication of his refusal to use his judgment in spending it. Make it plain that we spend some of our money and lay some away for future, greater expenditures. We cannot expect the child to learn, immediately, all the ways in which money is used.

He learns first to spend, then to save for greater expenditures. Then we may make it plain that later he may enjoy a bank account and so some of his money (as the size of his allowance increases) can go into his savings bank to be deposited later in the big bank downtown.

What should be kept in mind is the impossibility of expecting any child to learn all about money and its management in a few easy lessons.

If small coins are tossed away on trivialities, look upon this as learning when learning is painful.

Our leaflet "Allowances for Children" may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 76. Address Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

What's New For Use On Homefront

United Press International

A skin that crackles is the sign of a well-cured, mature onion.

Don't use furniture polish, oil or varnish on leather. Most polishes contain solvents that will cause leather to become sticky. If leather appears to be drying out, use a small amount of leather dressing as a finisher.

A can of scouring powder and some paper towels placed in the garage will save steps for the man working on the car and also save wear, tear and cleaning on bathrooms inside the house.

To test for color-fastness, dip a few inches of the hemline into lukewarm water and let stay for three minutes. If there is only a bare trace of color, it is safe to wash the fabric.

You can save steps when ironing if you tack a towel rack to the wide end of the ironing board. Use it to hang small pieces of clothing.

Shopping A Chore? Try This Test To See Why

By VIVIAN BROWN

Are you a good shopper? Do you know what to look for in clothing? These questions will test your skills: After checking the possible answer that you prefer, see the answer box.

1. Why are certain fibers combined (dacton with wool, dnyel with cotton, etc.)?

(a) The public gets bored with the same old labels.

(b) When the factory runs out of one fiber, it mixes a few others to complete the garment.

(c) The non-shrinking fibers tend to keep the woven fabric in shape or prevent wrinkling.

2. If selecting a dress for summer wear, which of the following would provide the coolest garment?

(a) Acetate Rayon

(b) Linen

(c) Wool

3. When shopping for a two-piece winter suit, you spot a wonderful bargain, but the jacket is too snug. You should:

(a) Buy it, hoping there is enough material in seams so it can be altered suitably.

(b) Look for something that fits you, and is within your means.

(c) Buy it as a good excuse to diet so that it will fit you.

4. What is monk's cloth?

(a) A basket weave cloth made of heavy, rough fibers.

(b) A fabric made exclusively for monks who live at high altitudes.

(c) A shaggy brown material

5. How can you tell whether a suit sleeve length is right for you?

(a) If it covers your wrist

(b) If sleeve length reaches your wrist bone when you touch your ear lobe.

(c) If you can get your hand into your pocket comfortably.

6. You have found the dress you want. It fits fine, except it is snug across the neckline and slides up when you sit down. How can you ease the "pull" in that area?

(a) Why bother if you have pretty legs? Why not show them?

(b) Don't worry about it. You can always piece the area if there isn't enough fabric.

(c) At least two inches loeway of fabric should be available in the seams to solve the problem.

7. You are a blonde with blemished skin. Which of the following colors is the most flattering for you?

(a) Red, pink.

(b) Black, beige.

(c) Orange.

8. You have a large frame and plump. If you had a choice of

YOUR PROBLEMS

Stay Where You Are, Maybe He'll Come Home

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I am married and have two small children. My mother is only 45 years old. She is attractive, lively and likes a good time. She's been a widow for almost 20 years and always had dates, but nothing serious until 5 years ago.

Mom has been going with Steve and no one else. He gives her money and buys her clothes. She doesn't work.

Several of my friends and relatives have told me that she is immoral and some have even called her a plain tramp. I've asked her either to marry the man or give him up. She says she never wants to marry again.

My husband says she is disgracing us and that I should have nothing to do with her. Maybe I'm wrong but I love her in spite of the talk. My husband said to write to you for your opinion. He told me to be sure to tell you we have children who will soon be asking questions. Thank you.

POLLY: Tell your husband disgrace doesn't rub off on people. Your mother is a grown woman and the rather sorry mess she's made of her life is her own little red wagon.

When your children ask questions, simply tell them that Steve is Grandma's gentleman friend who takes her places because she has no husband. No other details are necessary. Don't feel that you must apologize to anyone.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 23, married a swell fellow a few months ago, and am now separated. Chris had to travel in his business and I got fed up being alone four nights a week. I told him either to change jobs or move out. He got mad and hollered at me that I knew what line of business he was in when I married him. Then he moved out bag and baggage.

My folks are disgusted with me three garments which would you choose:

(a) A pearl gray silk dress with pleated skirt; white belt, white collar.

(b) A navy blue sheer wool with straight skirt, white trim down the center panel from collar to hem, matching fabric belt.

(c) A short-sleeved red dress of rayon with permanent pleated skirt.

9. You need a new foundation garment. What is the best way to select it:

(a) Measure your waist and hips and trust the judgment of the sales girl.

(b) Buy it a size larger so you will not be uncomfortable during the hot weather.

(c) Choose one that is a little too small for you so that you can ease off some of the surplus fat at your hips.

and I can't blame them. I made a big mistake and I know it. The question I need advice with is this:

There is a vacancy in the same building where my husband now lives and I would like to move in over there. I'm sure it would help bring us together. My folks say "No." But I know Chris better than they do.

I've written him several letters and he hasn't answered. He hasn't returned my phone calls. In short, he's been ignoring me.

I don't trust my own judgment any more. Can you help? —ROZ

Dear ROZ: Stay where you are. If you move into the building where your husband is now living, he'll only ignore you at closer range.

Stop running after him, and give him a chance to miss you. In a few months ask your clergyman to act as intermediary—and stay out of the negotiations until he expresses a desire to see you.

Dear Ann: On my birthday my son sent an orchid for me to wear to church. I pinned it on stems-side up. My neighbor said I had it pinned on wrong. She claims flowers should be worn stem-side down—as they grow. Who is right? —W.H.

Dear W.H.: She is. Flowers should be worn so that when you look down at them, they look up at you.

Woman Killed By Gun Blast; Husband Held

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—The wife of a prominent Lutheran church administrator was shot to death on the lawn of her home Friday and her husband was picked up for questioning.

The body of his wife, Mrs. Marjorie Warren, 37, was discovered several hours after she died in a quiet tree-lined residential neighborhood. Her body had been lets from a small-caliber gun. Her husband, Russell, described by his neighbors and co-workers as "a congenial, wonderful guy," was parish administrator at Messiah Evangelical Lutheran Church, Minneapolis. He was not an ordained minister.

Warren, 39, was picked up in his church office about an hour after his wife's body was found. He denied any knowledge of the slaying, police said. No charges were filed.

Mrs. Alice Nelson, church secretary, said Warren's colleagues were shocked by the incident. She said he gave no indications that anything was amiss in his relations with his wife.

The Warrens had been married about 10 years and had no children, Mrs. Nelson said.

Waggoner In Monroe For Vote Talks

Joe D. Waggoner of Plain Deal, candidate for Public Service Commissioner from the 3rd public service commission district, was in Monroe yesterday seeking votes.

Waggoner, who ran for state comptroller in the Democratic primary last year on the Rainach ticket, said that he will do all in his power to maintain segregation in the public schools.

Waggoner, a member of the school board in Bossier Parish and a past board president, said that he felt his record on segregation and states' rights would stand up "under the closest scrutiny."

Waggoner's record of service in school work includes: member of the board of directors of the La. School Board Association and was 2nd vice president for one term and is presently 1st vice president; he has served as Louisiana member on the United School Committee of the association.

"I want to get the federal government out of education in Louisiana. The only way to accomplish this is to get rid of the federal dollar and I will propose steps to accomplish this."

On the recent legislature's segregation measures, Waggoner said, "I think generally, the bills passed will tighten our controls over our schools in our efforts to maintain segregation."

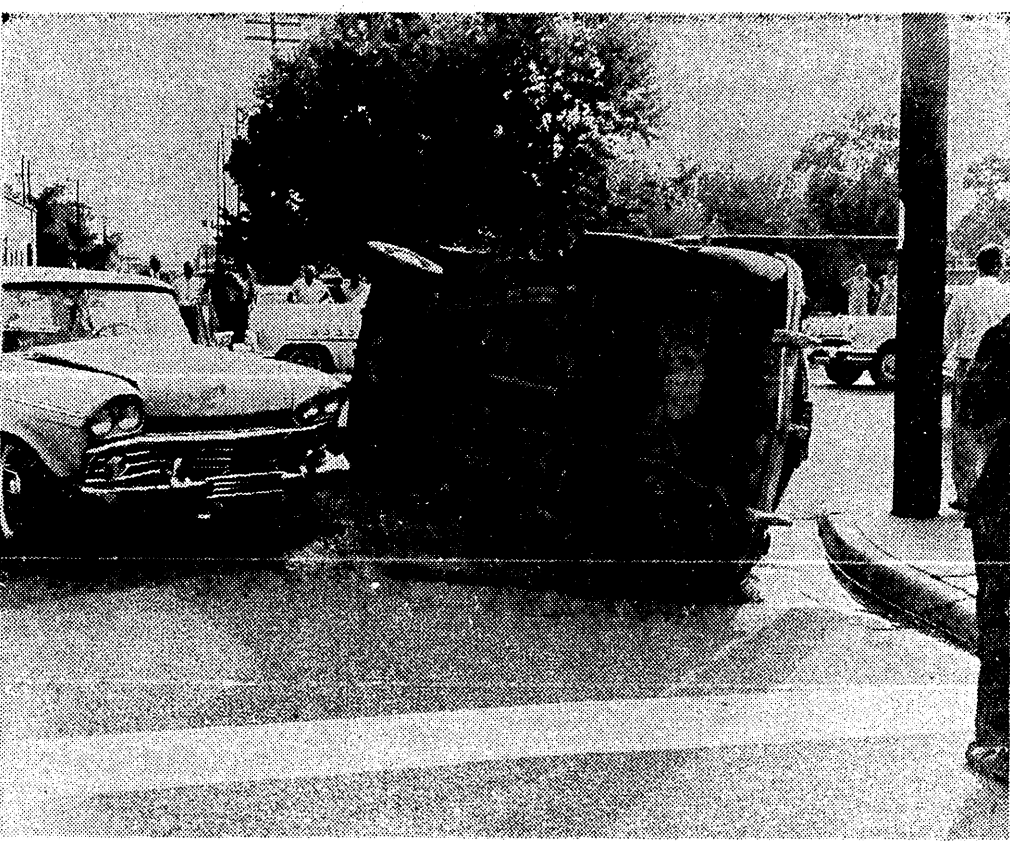

"As far as New Orleans is concerned, I believe that at the opportune time the governor will invoke interposition. That time has not arrived yet," Waggoner commented. He explained that this "opportune" time would arrive when other legal maneuvers fail to achieve the needed goals.

Commenting on the Democratic party's civil rights plank, Waggoner said, "In north Louisiana, I'm quite sure the people are going to reject it."

Waggoner said, "I feel that my record and the fact that I have children in school will show the people that I am interested in them and that I will do everything in my power to protect their interests."

Waggoner announced that he will appear on television in the area next week. His schedule is: channel 5, Monday 9:45-10 p.m.; channel 10, Wednesday 8-8:15 p.m.; channel 8, Thursday, 7:15-7:30.

He also has two Shreveport appearances scheduled.

ONE PERSON received minor injuries when his car was overturned in a collision at the North Fourth and Olive Street intersection yesterday afternoon. Injured was James V. Futch, 41, 716 Drago St., West Monroe, who was driving north on North Fourth when he was hit by a car, driven by Carl R. Franks, 21, West Monroe, who was going east on Olive Street. Futch was taken to the St. Francis hospital for treatment and Franks was charged with reckless driving. (Staff photo by Richard Greene)

Scared Scientists Would Make Deal With Communists

WASHINGTON (AP)—A group of American scientists foresees a nuclear holocaust within 15 years if the United States fails to "make more creative and intensive efforts" for arms control agreements with the Soviet Union.

In a statement Friday on the eve of the 15th anniversary of the first atomic bomb explosion, the Federation of American Scientists declared: "It appears unlikely that the world will avoid a nuclear holocaust if another 15 years pass without arms control agreements."

The federation describes itself as a nationwide organization of 2,000 scientists and engineers "concerned with the interrelations of science and world affairs."

"Although it has been United States policy to seek arms control as a method of preventing war, we have not supported that policy with the necessary conviction and devotion," the statement said.

National Sugar Marketing Quota Shows Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department Friday raised the national sugar marketing quota 400,000 tons in a move designed to head off possible shortages and rising prices following a cut in imports from Cuba.

The immediate effect of the order was to raise 1960 quotas for U.S. market sales by nine other foreign countries a total of 60,000 tons.

Department officials said they expected some of this sugar to be enroute to the United States within a few days. The remaining 340,000 tons may be allocated for purchase from foreign suppliers.

The order raised the overall 1960 sugar sales quota from 9.6 million tons to 10 million tons.

Following are the increases given:

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Public Health Service Friday reported a slight increase in the nationwide number of polio cases but the number was far below last year's level.

Rig Charges Hurled By Republicans

CHICAGO (UPI) — Republicans preparing to take over the political stage with the opening of their Chicago convention hurled new "rigging" charges at the Democratic Kennedy-Johnson ticket Friday.

Jaren L. Jones, vice chairman of the GOP Convention Committee, recalled that Republican Party Chairman Sen. Thurston Morton called the turn of the Democratic convention as far back as June 30.

He quoted Morton's statement then that "It appears that a deal has been made for a Kennedy-Johnson ticket at the rigged Democratic National Convention... the rumors of the Kennedy-Johnson deal that have been floating around Washington are true."

"STANDS ALONE" Jones commented that the Democratic convention "continued right on its rigged road last night" with Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson's vice presidential nomination.

"Today, Sen. Morton stands alone as the only major political figure in either party who publicly predicted the Kennedy-Johnson ticket, in that order," Jones said. Jones' charge was one of the first of what will become a mounting salvo of GOP accusations as Republicans converge on Chicago for the opening of their national nominating convention July 25.

Let's Go BOWLING

Morton arrives in Chicago Saturday to take charge of convention plans, which are confidently expected to wind up with Vice President Richard M. Nixon's nomination for the presidency.

MAY HAVE INFIGHTING But the Republicans may be in for some party infighting of their own when New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller makes an early-bird visit to the convention site Monday.

Rockefeller is scheduled to arrive a full day in advance of his appearance before the Republican Platform Committee, where he is expected to urge strong planks on defense and government reform.

The New Yorker's sharp criticisms of some of Eisenhower administration policies could get a dramatic new airing before the committee headed by Chicago businessman Charles Percy.

Russians Offer To Return Body Of U. S. Flyer

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union Friday offered to return the body of the aircraft commander of the U. S. Air Force RB-47 reconnaissance plane shot down over the Barents Sea July 1. The offer to return the remains of Capt. Willard G. Palm, 39, Oak Ridge, Tenn., was made in a note handed to U. S. Charge d'Affaires E. L. Freers. The Soviet note "categorically rejects" a U. S. note protesting the downing of the plane, the Soviet Tass news agency said. The note, which termed American's protest "groundless", reiterated that the two survivors of the RB-47 crash would be tried "with the full severity of Soviet law." The two were identified as 1st Lieutenant Freeman Olmstead, 24, of Elmira, N.Y., and John R. McCone, 28, of Tonganoxie, Kans. Three other crewmen are missing.

Parish 4-H Clubbers Win State Awards

Ouachita Parish's 4-H contingent made a good showing in an assortment of annual state short course contests held at Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, this week.

Mrs. Donna M. Moore, assistant parish home demonstration agent, said yesterday that eight out of the 25 Ouachita Club youths making the trip, won awards.

In the competition held Monday through Thursday, these were the honors they gained:

Lila Marie Fite, Ouachita Parish High School, an alternate state delegate to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago in November, second place in food preparation.

Ann Beard, West Monroe High School, group blue ribbon, baking.

Girls' general demonstration team, Zella Faye Brown and Brenda Custer, Calhoun Senior Club, group blue ribbon.

Boys' meat identification team, Billy Jim Spillers and Thomas L. Allen, Calhoun High, and Stanley Wink, West Monroe High, group blue ribbon.

Home ground beautification, Richard Gross, Calhoun High, group blue ribbon.

In addition to Mrs. Moore, the 4-Hers were accompanied by assistant county agent, and club leaders, Mrs. H. W. Brown, Calhoun, and Mrs. Alice Bower, Ouachita Parish High School.

Other club members making the trip were Billy Crew, Linda Tolbird, Judy Strozier, Emma Murray, Wallace Freeman, Marion Temple, Roger Pinton, Tommy Ramsey, Jimmy Farmer, Houston Campbell, Wilbur Ray Wheeler, James Roy Edgar, Larry Joe Cumming, Tom Owens and Robert Hodge.

Says Democrats Show Contempt For Southerners

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A Mississippi States Rights and state Republican leader said Friday that the Democratic platform and platform of the Democratic party would cause Mississippians to look elsewhere for a President.

Former gubernatorial candidate Charles Sullivan said the Democratic party showed contempt for the South. He said Mississippi should have walked out of the convention after the platform was adopted.

GOP state chairman Wirt Yerger Jr. predicted the Democratic action will help the Republican party in the presidential election. Yerger said the state has reacted strongly against the Democratic platform and the nomination of Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts for the presidency.

Tanker Ripped Open By Object In East River

NEW YORK (UPI)—A Panamanian tanker laden with Arabian oil was ripped open by a submerged object in the East River Friday and ran aground on rocks at the base of the United Nations headquarters skyscraper.

Oil spilled from the ship into the river in such quantities that the fire department posted no smoking signs in the area, even along the East River Drive, as a precaution against possible disaster.

None of the 36 persons aboard the vessel, one of them a woman laundress, was injured. All the crew members are German except the radio operator, an Irishman. They were removed from the ship without difficulty.

City Employees Confused About Carbon Copies

COLUMBUS (UPI)—City employees admitted Friday they were slightly confused about an exchange of letters between the Ohio Highway Department and the Columbus City Attorney's office.

The state sent this letter: "Will you please forward two more certified copies? We can't send Thermofax copies to the auditor's office so we must have at least two carbon copies which are certified. We have one carbon now so we still need two certified copies, one of which must be a carbon. Also, if you sent a Thermofax, please send a certified copy rather than a copy of a certified copy. Thank you."

The city's reply: "I cannot send you two certified copies since it seems the only carbon copy was sent to you previously. Unless I have a carbon copy, I can't obtain a certified carbon copy and without a certified carbon copy, I cannot obtain a Thermofax of a certified carbon copy, therefore, I will have to send two certified Thermofax of carbon copies or have your carbon copy certified and get a Thermofax copy of your certified carbon copy certified. Please return carbon copy."

Red World Record

LONDON (AP)—Soviet pilot Viktor Ilchenko has set a world glider speed record of 56.54 miles an hour over a 100-kilometer closed course. Moscow radio reports. The old time was 54.2 m.p.h.

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union Friday rejected as "sheer invention" the United States' contention that an American RB47 reconnaissance plane was over international waters when it was shot down by a Soviet fighter July 1.

A Soviet note declared Washington was trying to "whitewash the aggressive actions of the American Air Force by deliberately distorting the facts."

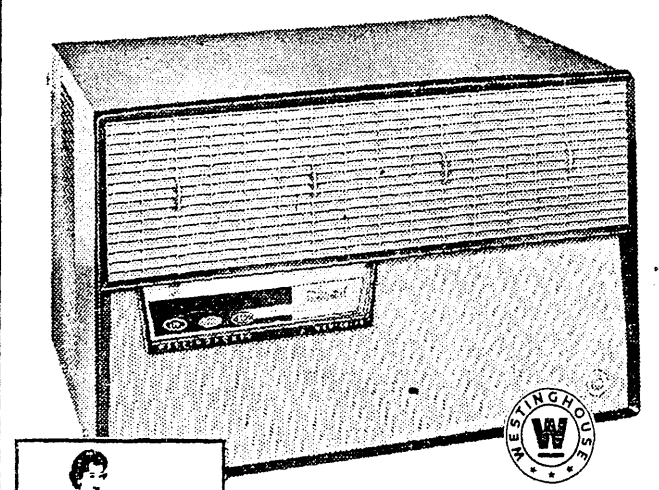

The note was in reply to a U. S. rejection of Soviet charges that the aircraft was on a spy mission similar to that of the U2 high altitude jet which went down in central Russia May 1. Washington contends the RB47, accused by the Soviet government of violating its air space in the arctic region of the Kola Peninsula, actually never was closer than 30 miles to the Soviet coast when it was shot down in the Barents Sea.

Moscow scornfully dismissed the American explanation that the converted six-jet bomber was on an electro magnetic survey to improve maps as "not outstanding in its originality." It compared this explanation with those initially offered for the flight of the U2.

"The U. S. government is again looking for a way out of the predicament in which it has landed by negating the facts instead of taking measures to end the provocations of American warplanes against the Soviet Union, which endanger the cause of peace," Moscow said.

Observers Sees Brighter Side

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson's nomination for vice president turned the Democratic National Convention into an emotional checkerboard.

It delighted most of the party leaders, dismayed many rank-and-file delegates, and brought this comment from an observer who belongs to neither group:

"Kennedy will lose the South and Johnson will lose the North but the ticket ought to do all right in Hawaii and Alaska."

Hans Sachs, a German shoe-maker who died in Nuremberg in 1976, was the real-life hero of Wagner's opera, "Die Meistersinger."

Tibbett Dies After Career As Baritone

NEW YORK (AP)—Lawrence Tibbett, 63, famed baritone whose singing career ranged from the Metropolitan Opera to radio, motion pictures and Broadway musicals, died Friday at Roosevelt Hospital.

He had undergone an operation June 27 for an old head injury. A hospital spokesman said Tibbett had been unconscious since the operation. His condition had been pronounced progressively poorer.

Tibbett, to an unusual extent, helped popularize the great vocal classics. He was an all-around singer, both for the masses and the musical elite. Unlike many opera stars, who shun the common entertainment media, Tibbett put his talents to work in all kinds of musical productions.

"There is no reason why we should be apologetic about our American music," he once said. "The history of great music in all nations is that good popular music preceded good classical music."

Tibbett began his career singing in theaters and churches, first in his native California and later in the New York vicinity. He hit stardom suddenly.

Atomic Clock

PARIS (AP)—France has its first atomic clock, a device built by the University of Bessanccon laboratory to study irregularities in the earth's rotation. It's reported to lose less than a second in 100 years.

Truckers Claim Railroads Hold Back Progress

BILOXI, Miss. (AP)—The nation's railroads are trying to "hold back the advancing wave of progress" by taking over the trucking industry, the president of the American Trucking Assn. said Friday.

Welby M. Frantz of Terre Haute, Ind., charged that "rail entry into trucking would be intended only to drive business back to the rails." He said the railroads would not want to build up trucking service because they have a "27-billion dollar investment in rail plant and equipment."
